Hugo and the Wolf

Lucy and Hugo are walking through the forest.
They enjoy walking.
Hugo is chatting with Lucy.
The air in the forest is clean.
You can hear the birds singing.

Suddenly, a monster appears.
A wolf! Does it want to eat the walkers?
Hugo and Lucy are afraid.

Wolves are like dogs, Hugo thinks.
They don't eat people.
Hugo knows how to handle dogs.
He shouts: 'Stop! Sit!'

The wolf obeys.
It's a tame wolf from the zoo.
Hugo takes out a muzzle.
He puts it over the wolf's mouth.

Now the wolf is harmless.
The animal can no longer bite anybody.
Lucy is no longer afraid of the wolf.

Hugo says to the wolf: 'Go back to the zoo!'

Hugo and Lucy continue their way.

Then Hugo asks Lucy: 'Do you know the fairy tale of Little Red Riding Hood?'

PLURAL FORMS:

one wolf	five wolves
one	two halves
a calf	many
on the	no shelves
a loaf (of bread)	three
the thief	some
his	their wives

a	a lot of children
a goose	three
a	ten mice
a foot	two
one tooth	28
a woman	for
a	100 men

MAKE THE SENTENCES NEGATIVE:

Wolves are harmless. … Wolves aren't harmless.....

They enjoy walking through the forest. .....

Lucy is afraid of the wolf. .....

She knows the story of Little Red Riding Hood. .....

Go back to the zoo. .....

They can hear the birds singing. .....